THE BIG FIGHT.

Corbett did not vary the routine of his training yesterday, but there was nothing in the least resembling monotony in the exercise for the men, for his men were aiding him in his work. He began the day with a ten-mile trot over the fast drying roads. He entered on the afternoon work at the wrist machine, following it with bag punching and handball. He played five games of handball with Joe Corbett as his partner, the brothers being matched against a pair of professionals who had somewhat the better of the argument. Without a moment's rest, after the handball game, Jim donned a sweater and took on McVey for a wrestling bout. White then sent "Big" Jeffries into the arena and the California giant had a decidedly unpleasant three minutes' experience with the swift gloves of the champion. Woods followed, the champion taxing the strength of the pugilistic headgear to the utmost. Joe Corbett and McVey were then again taken on. After a good dig down Corbett was seen to be in excellent condition and spirits and called on trainer White a reference of the opinion that his man could not possibly be in better shape for the contest on March 17.

George Green, "Young Corbett," who is to fight "Mysterious" Billy Smith, and who, in the early part of the week fell into the Carson river, has met with another accident, and this time one that may hurt his chances in the ring. In boxing he struck his trainer, Mr. Arthur, on the head, sustaining a very serious injury. It is feared by Green that his hand will be all right, but it will probably put him back in his training.

Fitzsimmons started in taking an eight-mile run and upon his return to the ranch boxed with Stelzer and Hickory. A run down ended all the work of the morning. Fitzsimmons was full of interest regarding the conference on rules. He again declared he did not want any hitting with one arm free and said that notwithstanding all that had been said, he did not consider such ruling at all favorable to his style of fighting.

The tramps commenced coming west a week or so ago. At every station west of Ogden there are from three to a dozen. So far the train men have been able to keep them from stealing rides, but a few succeeding in reaching here.

Aside from the pugilists, their trainers and attendants and a score of newspaper men, there are perhaps not fifty strangers in town, including half a dozen women who have come to see the fight. The legislature is still in session, doing little or nothing, and will adjourn on Monday or Tuesday. Monday, as none of the members intend going home until after the 15th.

Bat Masterson, who, it is understood, will have charge of the force of men who will maintain order at the arena, will have his force organized and in proper shape in a day or two, to preserve the peace if their services are necessary.

BRADY AND JULIAN CONFER.

The Australian Manager Seems to Desire a Rumpus Before the Fight.

CARSON, Nevada, March 12.—A long conference, which at times nearly resulted in the spoiling of the chances of the big fight being pulled off, was held this morning between Martin Julian and William A. Brady over the construction put on the rules, and the end was that Julian, after objecting strenuously upon the right of the referee making any ruling whatever before the men entered the ring and against the hitting with one arm free, and in the breakaways, gave way entirely and consented that the men should hit with one arm free and on the breakaways. The right will, therefore, be fought in accordance with the interpretation of the rules made by Referee Siler.

It was at times a stormy conference, and time and again the smash-up was perilously near, and again it was only averted by the most narrow margins. Brady, at the outset, took the stand that Corbett was willing to abide by the decision of the referee, no matter what the decision might be. The champion, he said, was willing to fight just as Siler said.

Julian, on the other hand, maintained that there was no right vested in the referee to make any ruling whatever until the men were ready to fight. He claimed that Fitzsimmons had always fought a "good square fight," and in all his fights the hitting had been both arms free, and that all the break-aways should be clean. Corbett, he said, had won the championship of the world in a fight conducted under such conditions and methods, which were good enough to win the championship, and were good enough to defend it.

Julian opened the talk by addressing Brady:

"I wanted to see you," he said, "about one or two things in these rules that do not seem to be right. Rule 1 says it is to be a fair stand-up boxing match in a 24-foot ring, and rule 2 that no hugging, wrestling, or any other kind of unfair play is to be allowed; but in his fight the hitting had been both arms free, and that all the break-aways should be clean. Corbett, he said, had won the championship of the world in a fight conducted under such conditions and methods, which were good enough to win the championship, and were good enough to defend it."

Julian then addressed Brady again, saying: "I want to see you," he said, "about one or two things in these rules that do not seem to be right. Rule 1 says it is to be a fair stand-up boxing match in a 24-foot ring, and rule 2 that no hugging, wrestling, or any other kind of unfair play is to be allowed; but in his fight the hitting had been both arms free, and that all the break-aways should be clean. decide a contest on a technical foul, which is generally unsatisfactory to everybody concerned.

"The question is," said Julian, "what governed when Corbett fought Sullivan?"

"It is not a question," said Brady. "When Corbett fought Sullivan it was understood and agreed they should fight fairly and squarely."

"Should do no hugging or clinching," asked Julian.

"I believe so," replied Brady. "The fight," went on Julian, "would have been stopped at the end of the seventh round if the referee had followed the instructions and rules. According to the rules, Sullivan lost the fight in the seventh round."

"We want to prevent any more of that kind of business," said Brady. "I am perfectly satisfied any time my man is guilty of any kind of a foul to lose the fight."

"Fitzsimmons, I say frankly," said Julian, "is not experienced in hitting with one arm free. He has always met his battles fairly and he wants to fight this fairly. We cannot give in to this proposition, and if Corbett will not agree to fight with clean break-aways, we are willing to fight him under the rules of the London prize ring."

"That is a good thing," broke in Brady. "You say Fitzsimmons is not accustomed to fighting in anything but the most open fashion, and yet he is willing to fight under the London prize ring rules, which allow wrestling, hitting with one arm free, biting, gouging and Heaven knows what. If he is not willing to fight with one arm free, it is queer that he should be willing to fight under rules which allow that and a great deal of the same kind that is worse."

BROOKLYN OFFERS $100,000

For the Cleveland Base Ball Team—Has Not Been Accepted.

NEW YORK, March 12.—There was a conference of base ball magnates in this city last night. It was learned that the Brooklyn club had offered $100,000 for the transfer of the Cleveland team to Brooklyn. Frank De Haas Robinson, of the Cleveland, was in conference with C. H. Byrne, of the Hoffman house. They refused to say whether or not they had a conference with Mr. C. H. Robinson, said that the Brooklyn club had offered him $100,000 for the transfer of the Cleveland club to Brooklyn.

President Byrne confirmed this statement. It was learned also that F. A. Abell and himself had succeeded in having the Brooklyn club accepted by the National League, and that the Brooklyn club felt perfectly safe in making the offer for the Cleveland team.

"In the future," said Mr. Robinson, "the Cleveland will be known as Tebban's Indians. For the time being, I do not see how the Cleveland can be called the 'Indians,' for certain it is they never crop."

President Robinson told a representative of the Associated Press to-day that he had positively refused the offer made to him by the representatives of the Brooklyn club. He said that he had refused to do this, Mr. Robinson said, because he had made a cash offer of $100,000 for the franchise and players of the Cleveland club. The Brooklyn club, according to Mr. Robinson, offered $50,000 for five of his players during the recent national league meeting at Baltimore, and having refused this, Mr. Robinson sees no reason to-day why he should accept $100,000 for all of his players and the forfeiture of his franchise. Unless some better offer is made, Mr. Robinson is more than inclined to face all his difficulties in playing his club on certain days and retain the franchise and players in Cleveland.
